For full admission to the University of Oregon, and according to U.S. immigration law, you must provide evidence of financial resources equal to one year of estimated expenses. Evidence can be in the form of a bank statement, sponsorship or scholarship letter or other document showing liquid assets.

The total estimated expense for graduate students is $42,252. See breakdown above. Although tuition varies by college, this is a standard estimated expense required of all graduate students and is based on 9-16 credits in the College of Arts and Sciences.

As a graduate student with a graduate assistantship (GTF), the university pays tuition, partial fees, and partial insurance on top of a monthly salary. However, you need to provide evidence of your portion of the total estimated expenses which is calculated as follows:

\[
\text{Monthly Salary} \times 9 = \text{Portion of Estimated Expenses}
\]

Note: To bring dependents with you, please add an additional $8,704 for a spouse, and $3,000 for each child to the estimated expenses above.
